DESCRIPTION OF LEVELS

Examples of work and descriptions are meant to progress through the levels. For example, an employee at level IV may also perform work listed within the previous levels.

Note: Factors that may distinguish between journey and senior levels include the degree of independence in performing the work, the complexity of the work, the scope of responsibility, and the employee's related experience. Other factors may include the complexity and responsibility of assigned caseloads, specialization of practice, and type of practice setting. Employees at the journey level generally manage more routine or standard caseloads using foundational psychological knowledge, while escalating complex, unusual, or rare cases to senior-level employees. Employees at the journey level may independently perform the full range of work identified within current or previous levels or may assist others performing work of greater complexity. Senior-level employees may perform the full range of work identified in the levels preceding their own, and/or may coordinate, oversee, and/or direct that work for others.

PSYCHOLOGIST I: Performs complex (journey-level) psychological work. Works under general supervision, with moderate latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment.

PSYCHOLOGIST II: Performs highly complex (senior-level) psychological work. Works under limited supervision, with considerable latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may:

- Evaluate mental health and psychological delivery services, activities, and programs.
- Review research studies and projects to ensure that findings are appropriately disseminated.

PSYCHOLOGIST III: Performs advanced (senior-level) psychological work. Works under minimal supervision, with considerable latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may:

- Provide training, consultation, and technical assistance to agency staff.
- Monitor quality and effectiveness of psychological activities and programs.
- Develop plans to improve services as needed to address needs or deficiencies and ensure compliance with relevant laws, standards, and policies.

PSYCHOLOGIST IV (Added 9-1-2025): Performs highly advanced (senior-level) psychological work. Works under minimal supervision, with extensive latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may direct and plan mental health and psychological delivery services, activities, and programs and may:

- Review documentation of treatment to determine compliance with policies and procedures, standards of care, quality service, and regulations.
