Works under minimal supervision, with extensive latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment.

DISTINGUISHING CHARACTERISTICS

The Deputy Director job classification series typically embodies greater scope and complexity than the Director job classification series; however, it is possible for a high-level Director (such as Director VI, VII, or VIII) in a large organization to have a greater level of responsibility, scope of function, and impact than a Deputy Director for a smaller organization.

The Deputy Director series is intended for positions that usually work directly with the executive director overseeing the operations of the agency or are responsible for oversight of major, complex, and functionally related areas organized into multiple departments and/or divisions. Employees in these roles would typically direct other executive, managerial, and professional staff and act with full authority of the executive director.

DESCRIPTION OF LEVELS

Note: Distinctions between levels may be based on factors including the size and structure of the supervised division/office; risk, complexity, impact, and scope of the supervised work; scope of responsibility, oversight, and authority; hierarchy, reporting relationships, and placement within the organization; size or functions of the agency; and scope of the agency's financial allocation.

Differences in duties and authority between levels may also be influenced by the employing agency, specific job requirements, and whether the employee holds additional credentials, such as specialized certifications. Additionally, external labor market factors for certain occupations may also impact the appropriate level within the series.
