DESCRIPTION OF LEVELS

Examples of work and descriptions are meant to progress through the levels. For example, an employee at level IV may also perform work listed within the previous levels.

Note: Factors that may distinguish between entry, journey, and senior levels include the scope of responsibility, the degree of independence in performing the work, the type and complexity of the work, and an employee's related experience. For example, clerks performing more routine, repetitive tasks are commonly found within the journey levels. Clerks who regularly perform more complex tasks such as arithmetic calculations, verifying accounting tables, and providing guidance to other clerical staff may be more appropriately classified at a senior level.

CLERK I: Performs entry-level to routine (journey-level) clerical work. Works under close supervision, with minimal latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. This level is intended as a learning level and a working level for the most routine types of clerical work, which are often repetitive in nature, such as simple data entry, routing mail, and filing.

CLERK II: Performs complex (journey-level) clerical work. Works under general supervision, with limited latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment.

CLERK III: Performs highly complex (senior-level) clerical work. Works under limited supervision, with moderate latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment.

Employees at this level may:

- Answer standard inquiries regarding policies and procedures, assist the public and staff in filling out forms, and provide information to the public by mail or phone.
- Perform simple calculations and prepare charts, graphs, and tables.
- Search public records to identify and retrieve data.
- Coordinate the receiving, storing, and issuing of files, materials, and supplies.
- Review, edit, and reconcile discrepancies in reports, purchase orders, correspondence, summaries, manuals, vouchers, journals, ledgers, requisitions, records, forms, and similar types of documents.
- Arrange the scheduling, transfer, and display of surplus property; and conduct physical inventories.
- Provide support to receptionist or telephone switchboard functions.
- Recommend modification of forms or records.

CLERK IV (Added 9-1-2023): Performs advanced (senior-level) clerical work involving coordinating clerical activities. Works under limited supervision, with considerable latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may:

- Check details on documents, reports, forms, and/or claims for accuracy, completeness, and legibility.
- Post information to agency records; modify forms or records.
- Develop and maintain filing systems; organize, maintain, and monitor stock and inventory.
- Provide assistance to others in maintaining office schedules and appointments.
- Provide guidance to other clerical staff.
