DESCRIPTION OF LEVELS

Examples of work and descriptions are meant to progress through the levels. For example, an employee at level V may also perform work listed within the previous levels.

Note: Factors that may distinguish between the levels include the degree of independence in performing the work, the complexity of the work, the scope of responsibility, and the employee's related experience, education, and certifications. Other factors may include the scope and nature of the inventory and/or retail sales work performed.

INVENTORY AND STORE SPECIALIST I: Performs routine (journey-level) inventory and/or retail sales work. Works under moderate supervision, with limited latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may fully perform a variety of routine daily tasks but may often rely on direction from others to solve problems that are not standard. Employees may assist others in performing work of greater complexity.

INVENTORY AND STORE SPECIALIST II: Performs moderately complex (journey-level) inventory and/or retail sales work. Works under general supervision, with moderate latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may work more independently than those at the previous level and may routinely assist others in performing work of greater complexity. Employees at this level may:

- Compile and maintain an inventory database.
- Prepare purchase requests or orders and maintains files and supporting documentation.
- Fill orders by packaging, mailing, or delivering items.

Note: Any senior-level employee (levels III-V) can serve as a team lead; however, within this job classification series team leader responsibilities will normally be found at levels IV or V. Senior-level employees may perform the full range of work listed in the examples above and may coordinate or oversee that work for others. Factors that may distinguish between the senior levels include the scope of responsibility and oversight, the complexity of the work performed, and the employee's related experience, education, and certifications.

INVENTORY AND STORE SPECIALIST III: Performs highly complex (senior-level) inventory and/or retail sales work. Works under general supervision, with moderate latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may:

- Schedule inventories and review inventory databases.
- Review accounting records of purchases.
- Review pricing and identification of merchandise.
- Verify requests for replenishing supplies and merchandise.
- Determine the necessary mark-up of merchandise and ensure that merchandise is correctly priced and displayed.
- Verify the receipt of inventory or retail merchandise shipments and oversee the loading and unloading of stock and merchandise.

INVENTORY AND STORE SPECIALIST IV: Performs advanced (senior-level) inventory and/or retail sales work. Works under limited supervision, with moderate latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may:

- Coordinate store and/or warehouse operations.
- Develop inventory control program guidelines and policies, reconcile inventory records with asset accounting records, and resolve inventory-reporting discrepancies.
- Review and approve requests for replenishing supplies and merchandise.
- Review markups on merchandise.
- Negotiate with vendors to secure competitive pricing for merchandise and other stock.

INVENTORY AND STORE SPECIALIST V: Performs highly advanced (senior-level) inventory and/or retail sales work. Works under limited supervision, with considerable latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment.
