DESCRIPTION OF LEVELS

Examples of work and descriptions are meant to progress through the levels. For example, an employee at level III may also perform work listed within the previous levels.

BENEFIT REVIEW OFFICER I: Performs complex (journey-level) claims and benefits dispute mediation work. Works under general supervision, with moderate latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees may also occasionally assist others in performing work of greater complexity.

Note: A senior-level employee (levels II-III) may serve in a lead or supervisor role. Senior-level employees may perform the full range of work identified in the level preceding their own, and/or oversee or coordinate that work for others. Factors that may distinguish between senior levels include the scope of responsibility and oversight, the complexity of the work performed, the scope, impact and nature of the claim or dispute, and the employee's related experience, education, and certifications.

BENEFIT REVIEW OFFICER II: Performs advanced (senior-level) claims and benefits dispute mediation work. Works under limited supervision, with considerable latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may:

- Conduct prehearing and benefit review conferences for disputed claims.
- Coordinate benefit review dockets in accordance with docket scheduling procedures.
- Mediate disputes between claimants and insurance companies and adjust claims according to policies and statutes.
- Prepare written reports on recommendations and unresolved issues; prepare and approve agreements or settlements.
- Prepare and conduct training sessions.

BENEFIT REVIEW OFFICER III: Performs highly advanced (senior-level) dispute mediation work. Works under minimal supervision, with extensive latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level frequently use their specialized expertise to advise management on a variety of issues necessary to ensure a consistent implementation of rules, regulations, and policies. Employees may oversee or work on some of the largest, most complex, or highest-profile claims or disputes.

GENERAL QUALIFICATION GUIDELINES
