DESCRIPTION OF LEVELS

Examples of work and descriptions are meant to progress through the levels. For example, an employee at level III may also perform work listed within the previous levels.

MEDICAL FEE DISPUTE OFFICER I: Performs routine (journey-level) medical dispute resolution work. Works under moderate supervision, with limited latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgement. Employees may also occasionally assist others performing job duties of greater complexity.

Note: A senior-level employee (levels II-III) may serve in a lead or supervisor role. Senior-level employees may perform the full range of work identified in the levels preceding their own, and/or oversee or coordinate that work for others. Factors that may distinguish between senior levels include the scope of responsibility and oversight, the complexity of dispute resolution duties, and the employee's related experience, education, and certifications.

MEDICAL FEE DISPUTE OFFICER II: Performs highly complex (senior-level) medical dispute resolution work. Works under limited supervision, with moderate latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgement. Employees at this level may prepare and conduct training sessions for staff.

MEDICAL FEE DISPUTE OFFICER III: Performs advanced (senior-level) medical dispute resolution work. Works under limited supervision, with considerable latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgement. Employees at this level may provide input into developing and revising policies and procedures.
