DESCRIPTION OF LEVELS

Examples of work and descriptions are meant to progress through the levels. For example, an employee at level IV may also perform work listed within the previous levels. Factors that may distinguish between levels include the scope of responsibility, the complexity of the work performed, the types of cleaning equipment used, and the employee's related experience.

CUSTODIAN I: Performs entry-level custodial work. Works under close supervision, with minimal latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may have limited experience or no experience and spend the majority of their time performing simple to routine work following standard practices. Employees may also assist others in performing job duties of greater complexity.

CUSTODIAN II: Performs moderately complex (journey-level) custodial work. Works under general supervision, with moderate latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may fully perform a variety of routine daily tasks but may often rely on direction from others to solve problems that are not standard. Employees may occasionally assist others in performing job duties of greater complexity.

CUSTODIAN III: Performs complex (senior-level) custodial work. Works under limited supervision, with considerable latitude for the use of initiative and independent judgment. Employees at this level may occasionally receive instruction or assistance as new, unusual or unique situations arise and assist others in performing job duties of greater complexity. Employees at this level may:

- Coordinate general custodial functions, minor building repairs, and scheduling.
- Perform minor maintenance and repair work on custodial equipment.
- Inspect buildings and facilities for cleanliness, completed work, and needed repairs.
- Maintain inventory records of building property, custodial and maintenance tools and equipment, and custodial materials and supplies.
- Determine and order needed supplies.
- Provide training for other custodial staff.

CUSTODIAN IV: (Added 9-1-2023) Performs advanced (senior-level) work. Works under limited supervision, with considerable latitude for the use of independent judgment. Employees at this level may:

- Assist the custodial manager with the oversight and/or planning of general custodial functions.
- Maintain and review records of custodial activities and related files and reports.
- Review and recommend changes to custodial operations to improve efficiency.
- Ensure that set up, moving, and arrangement of furniture and equipment is appropriate.
- Ensure proper usage, maintenance, and repairs on buildings and cleaning equipment.
- Ensure that custodial supplies are restocked.
- Participate in the development, implementation, and administration of custodial procedures and guidelines.
